Impact Report

European Day of Languages

PURPOSE

The European Day of Languages assembly and activities celebrated the vast linguistic diversity found across Europe, recognising more than 200 languages spoken on the continent. The event promoted the importance of multilingualism and cultural exchange, encouraging pupils to value and explore different languages. Students were inspired to be curious about languages and to understand how they help connect people and cultures around the world.

IMPACT

As a result of the assembly and subsequent classroom activities:

- Pupils developed curiosity about different cultures and traditions.
- The variety and richness of Europe's linguistic heritage were showcased.
- Students were encouraged to value and show interest in less commonly taught languages.

Bernard et le monstre

(Not now Bernard!)

By David McKee

I enjoyed listening to the French story.

I really want to learn another language.

I can't believe how many languages are spoken across Europe!
